Below are some excerpts from the speech of his excellency Ambassador Rodrigo do Amaral Souza:

"Today, Brazil celebrates its National Day, marking the 196th anniversary of our independence from Portugal in 1822. On this occasion, when we reflect on our national and the Philippines, and the great potential still left to intensify them.

"Despite the geographical distance that separates our two countries, we are united by common values and historical ties. Filipinos and Brazilians share the legacy of multicultural peoples, shaped by diversity, a desire for development, the existence of solid democracies, diversified economies and an extensive environmental heritage.

"Brazil and the Philippines celebrated last July the 72nd anniversary of the establishment of diplomatic relations. I look forward with confidence and enthusiasm to the task of maintaining and strengthening our bilateral ties. Mabuhay ang Pilipinas! Viva o Brasil!" —
